UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT

Memorandum

TO : SAC, NEW YORK (105-8999)

DATE: 3-24-65

FROM :

SA [REDACTED] b7c

SUBJECT:

MALCOLM K. LITTLE aka
IS-4841

MALCOLM X appeared on WPIX-TV, Channel 11, New York City on 2-2-65 from 9:30PM until 11:00PM.

This program was taped by the New York Office. A review of the tape reflected that MALCOLM X made statements about the conditions of the Negroes and that he will use any means necessary to change these conditions. He admitted that he was head of the LNT and worked with the OAAU.

In view of the fact that MALCOLM X was shot and killed on 2-21-65 the contents on the tapes will not be transcribed.

Said tapes are being forwarded to Section 14 for reuse.

Tribute To A Black Man

Editor's Note: Miss Jo Ann Newman works in the Classified Advertising Department of the New York Amsterdam News.

But she asked for — and was granted permission — to write her own story of Malcolm X's funeral.

This is her story:

By JO ANN NEWMAN

The threshold of Life, A fallen angel. A Human Being, A family man, A Black man, A Man, A Leader. I am what I am, so be it. Malcolm X, all of these and yet more.

The tidal wave has subsided, the sea, the angry sea, where are you? Why have you returned to the ocean's floor.

There is much work to be done, where are my workers? Where have they gone? Why am I suddenly alone. Black Manhood, A black man, A man. ALONE.

The events of the past few days, has been History in the making. History, man's knowledge of what happened.

It is Saturday, Feb. 27th, 1965. Faith Temple Church of God in Christ. I am standing in the pulpit, set aside for the newspapers, and all media's of our great news services.

I am watching history in the making. I am watching the world's leaders from all fields arrive. We are here together. Yet, why then am I alone? My thoughts entirely of a Black man.

who has been struck down, his body lies below me.

A man, a leader, a black man, his voice is still. His ideas still. How much will be remembered of what he has taught his followers.

The crowd is swelling, the silence, the silence, Why is it so silent? Why is it so calm. Am I alive? Yes I felt the pain from the pinch I gave my arm. Below me lies a Man, a black man, an Afro American.

All of us here, but for a total cause. To pay our respects to a Black man. Malcolm X. Shabazz. We are here under one roof. His followers, his bereaved family, the everyday man and woman.

The big ones, the small ones, Ossie Davis, Ruby Dee, James Farmer, John Lewis, Bayard Rustin, Dick Gregory, Ralph Cooper. We are here, for her — her a Black Man.

It is now 10:00 a.m., Ossie Davis is before the microphones, the silence has fallen upon the multitude again. The click of the cameras, the hum of the TV cameras, and yet the silence.

The sincere thanks from a bereaved widow, conveyed through Ossie Davis. Acknowledgment of a few of the many, many telegrams and letters from all over the world.

Ruby Dee

The ocean has arisen once more to bind us together for a Black Man. Moslem Brothers, Los Angeles NAACP, Chester Civil Rights Council, Natl Urban League, African Natl Council, Freedom Fighters of Ohio, Michigan Committee of Freedom Now, The Moors of Haiti, Ambassador of Lagos and so many, many more.

Applause

They remembered, they remembered a Black Man. A letter from the oceans floor: Ossie Davis acknowledges it. It is signed Permanent Mission of Ghana, respects paid from Dr. Kwame Nkrumah, Pres of the Republic of Ghana. The sea, the sea, the silence, the memory, the man.

A speaker, Ahmed Osmund-Islamic Center tells the multitude "THE HIGHEST THING A MOSLEM CAN ASPIRE TO, IS TO DIE ON THE BATTLEFIELD AND NOT TO DIE ON THE BACKSIDE. THOSE WHO DIE ON THE BATTLEFIELD ARE NOT DEAD, BU THEY ARE ALIVE" The stillness broken by the applause.

And then again, silence.

And now a man is to be eulogized. Ossie Davis is still at the microphone. He is concerned if Malcolm X can appreciate a man in tears. But there are tears in the eyes of many men for this fallen symbol of Black Manhood. And from Mr. Davis' own words. "OUR OWN BLACK SHINING PRINCE".

It is now 10:40 a.m., and time for the last of the service. This portion to be conducted in Islamic. The Bronze casket now closed. Approaching a man of tall stature in the brown flowing robes and the white burnoose. Another Black man.

The mourners are standing and so it begins, the Islamic service. Imam Al Hajj Heshams Jaaber recites four Takbeers.

This portion over, the body is being wheeled away. The silence is no more. The hearts have broken open, the tears are no longer held, the throats can no longer remain stilled. A BLACK MAN HAS FALLEN.

Malcolm X. Shabazz. You have not fallen in vain. Your ideas, your ideals, your morals will be continued. Who are we to judge you? A man who lived and died to protect other Black men.

A heavy heart, a silent pen, my tribute to a history making BLACK MAN. And so dignity has balanced the sands of time, Serenity.

"THE TRUTH SHALL SET YOU FREE"

A SALAM ALEIKUM

As Jimmy Booker Knew Him

Real Malcolm X

No one knew Malcolm X better than the Amsterdam News staff.

Of that staff, no one knew Malcolm X better than Jim Booker.

In this, the first of a series on Malcolm X, the man, his philosophies, his life and his death, we publish a letter written to Jim Booker by Malcolm X from Accra, Ghana on May 10, 1964.

Sir: I arrived here in Accra yesterday (Sunday, May 10, 1964) from Lagos, Nigeria. I deeply regret that my limited time doesn't allow me to stay in each of these countries longer. My limited command of the English language prevents me from any attempt to try in words to describe the beauty and wealth of Nigeria and its people.

But I can say it is full of American and other whites who are well aware, not only of its natural beauty, but also of its wealth of un-tapped natural

One white American businessman confessed to me that Africa is the only area that can be considered today as the "last frontier." From my own limited observations and experience on both sides of the ocean, I must say quite emphatically: If America is the land of today, Africa is definitely the land of tomorrow.

The same whites who spit in our faces in America, who brutally club us, and put their police dogs and water hoses upon us when we try to "integrate" with them in America can be seen fighting now throughout our own African fatherland bowing, grinning and smiling (deceitfully) in order to be accepted here in Africa by our African Brothers into this African Society. A society of natural beauty and untapped wealth.

If American Negroes want integration, all they have to do is come to Africa, for it is truly ironical and shows the paradoxical attitudes of America's whites.

The same whites who reject integration with blacks in white America come to Black Africa to integrate with our black brothers

The beautiful land here is so heavily vegetated, that its fertility speaks for itself. If modern methods of agriculture are ever used, this continent could easily become the bread basket of the world. It's the last frontier, the land or world of tomorrow. It is paradise!

I spoke at Ibodan University in Ibodan Nigeria last Friday night (5-8-64), giving the students and faculty there the true picture of our plight and our struggle for freedom in America, and explained the urgent necessity of the independent African nations helping us to bring our case against America's racism before this year's session at the United Nations.

A professor (from the West Indies) who jumped to the microphone to dispute what I said was driven from the hall and off the campus by the students. Later I learned that he was one of those who had a white wife, and he was also trying to secure a position teaching in one of the American Universities.

Frankly speaking America is about the only place left for him to go to after witnessing the reaction to him by the Nigerian students.

Never let anyone say that our African brothers aren't in complete sympathy with our plight, once they understand the true picture of it.

MALCOLM X's OWN STORY'Schooled' in N. Y. Tavern

BY MALCOLM X

MY FIRST JOB didn't last long. I quit before they could fire me.

Back in New York, stone broke, I went over to Small's Paradise. One of the bartenders called me aside and said that if I went downstairs right away to the office, I might be able to replace a day waiter who was about to go into the army.

Ed Small and his brother, Charlie, had seen me in the place so much that it made it pretty easy. They also knew I was a railroad man, which, for a waiter, was the best kind of recommendation. It was in 1942, just past my 17th birthday.

With Small's practically the center of everything happening, waiting tables there was seventh heaven seven times over! Charlie Small had told me not to be late! Why, what was he talking about?

I was so anxious to be there, I'd arrive an hour early! Inside of a week I don't know who liked me most, the cooks or the bar-

Malcolm X, the Black Nationalist leader, was killed in New York "because he knew too much, made too many enemies."

This is the story he wrote of his troubles in the Black Muslim movement and his life in crime. It was intended for a book "The Autobiography of Malcolm X."

tenders. And the customers, who had seen me among them around the bar, recognizing me now in the waiter's jacket, were surprised, pleased, and they couldn't have been more friendly.

RECOGNIZING that by New York terms I still was just a hick, they began to school me. Every day I listened raptly to one or several of the customers who felt like talking—these seasoned, mature hustlers—and it all added to my "education."

Particularly, my ears absorbed like sponges when some of them in a rare burst of confidence, or a little beyond his usual number of drinks, would tell me "inside" things about the particular form of hustling that he pursued.

Plain clothes detectives were quietly identified to me, by a nod, a wink. Knowing the law people in the area was elementary for the hustlers, and, like them, in time, I would learn to sense the presence of any police and agent types. And added to the civilian ones in 1942, each of the military services had civilian-dressed "eyes" and "ears."

Every day, all of my tips— as high as $10 a day—I would gamble on the numbers, and dream of what I would do and buy as soon as I "hit." The straight number chances of hitting were a thousand-to-one, but your chances could be increased by what was called "combining." For example, 6 cents would put one penny on each of the six possible combinations of three digits. Take the number 840, say. "Combined," it would cover 840, 804, 048, 408, 480 and 084.

THE DAILY small army of "runners" each got 10 per cent of the money they turned in, along with the bet slips, to their "controllers." (And if you hit, you gave the runner a 10 per cent tip.) A controller might have as many as 50 runners working for him, and got 5 per cent of what he turned over to the "bankers," who paid off the hits, paid off the police, and, off the balance, got rich.

I should stress that Small's wasn't any haven for criminals. I dwell upon hustlers because it was their world that fascinated me. Actually, for the night-life crowd, most of which the hustlers regarded as "square," Small's was one of the two or three most decorous night spots that Harlem had. It was formally recommended by the New York City Police department to white people who would ask where it was safe to go in Harlem.

When I had been around Harlem long enough to show signs of permanence, it was inevitable that I was going to get a nickname that would identify me beyond any confusion. With two other red-necked and well-known "Reds" who were around.

I HAD met them both. One was "St. Louis Red," a professional armed robber. When I was sent to prison, he was doing some time for trying to stick up a dining-car steward on a train between New York and Philadelphia. The other one was "Chicago Red." In a speak-easy where I was a waiter later on, he was the funniest dishwasher on this earth, and we became good buddies. Now he's making his living being funny as a nationally known stage and nightclub comedian.

Anyway, before long, it happened. Different people, knowing I was from Michigan, would ask me what city. Since most New Yorkers never had heard of hick-town Lansing, I would say "Detroit"—and it stuck.

One afternoon early in 1943, before the regular 6 p. m. hustling crowd had gathered at Small's, this real Georgia-looking black soldier sat drinking at one of my tables by himself. He looked dumb and pitiful, and it was because of this that I did one of the dumbest things I ever did in those years. The next drink that I served this soldier, I bent over close wiping the table, and asked him if he wanted a woman.

I KNEW BETTER. I wasn't only Small's Paradise law, it was every tavern's law, at least if you wanted to stay in business, not to get involved with anything that could be interpreted as impairing the morals of servicemen, or any kind of hustling off them. Big trouble had been caused by this for dozens of places. Even some well-known places had been put off-limits by the military and some even had lost their state or city licenses.

And I had suckered myself right into the hands of one of those military "spies." Why, this black toot of the white man said he sure would like a woman, so gratefully; he even had a dumb Georgia accent! And I gave him the phone number of one of my best friends among the prostitutes at the rooming house where I lived. I gave the fellow a half hour to have gotten there, and then I telephoned. I expected what the woman said to me, that he was one like that had been here.

I didn't even go back out to the bar. I just went straight to Charlie Small's office. "I just did something, Charlie," I said, "I don't know why I did it—" And I told him what I'd done.

CHARLIE looked at me. "I wish you hadn't done that, Red." We both knew what he meant.

When the West Indian plain clothes detective, Charlie Barts, came in, I was waiting. When we got to the 135th street precinct, it was busy with police in uniform. I reflected that two things were in my favor: I'd never given the police any trouble, and when that black spy soldier had tried to tip me, I had waved it away and told him I was just doing him a favor. I saw some other detectives side-mouthing with Charlie Barts, and I think that when these factors were discussed, they sort of agreed that Charlie Barts should just scare me.

Even more bitter to take than the just getting fired, they barred me from Small's. I could understand. Even if I wasn't actually what was called "hot" I automatically was going to be under surveillance now; the brothers had to protect their business. I wasn't a qualified hustler as yet, but I surely had become schooled in their code, I was broke and on my own again, 18 years old.

SAMMY, "Pretty Boy," one of the pimps, proved to be my friend in need. He put word on the "wire" for me to come over to his place. I went. His place seemed to me a small palace; his women really kept him in style, while we talked, about what kind of a hustle should I best get into. Sammy had the best marijuana I'd ever used. Peddling reefers, Sammy and I pretty soon agreed, was the best thing. Both Sammy and I knew some merchant seamen, and others, who could supply me with loose marijuana. And musicians, among whom I had so many good contacts, were the heaviest market for reefers—and then they also were for the heavy-ner narcotics. If I learn anything to graduate to peddling them. I had the advantage that I had been around long enough to either know, or spot on sight, most regular detectives and cops, the not the narcotics people. Sammy staked me, about $20.

Malcolm X Tells How 'Big-Head' Created 1st Race

• Prior to his assassination in New York on Feb. 2, Malcolm X, the black nationalist leader, had written the story of his troubles with the Black Muslims. He had been a Muslim leader and subsequently was expelled. Today's installment related how Malcolm learned of the Muslims.

BY MALCOLM X

MY BROTHERS AND SISTERS began sending me letters about a new, natural religion for the black man. One day Reginald wrote, "Don't eat any more pork." I tried it and did it, and for the first time in a long while I began to get a little feeling of self-respect, tho I hardly knew even how to identify the feeling. Reginald wrote more, about the worship of Allah and the American teacher of Islam, the Honorable Elijah Muhammad.

I learned that when Muhammad went to Detroit he actually stayed at my brother Willfred's place. It was my sister Hilda who told me that Muhammad himself had been in prison, for draft dodging, and she suggested that I write to him.

And on one visit she explained to me the key lesson of Elijah Muhammad's teachings which I later learned was the "demonology" that every religion has. Called "Yacub's History," once it is accepted by any black man, he will never again see the white man with the same eyes.

First, the moon separated from the earth. Then, the first humans, Original Man, were a black people. They founded the Holy City Mecca.

Among this black race were 24 wind scientists. One of the scientists, at odds with the rest, created the especially strong black tribe of Shabazz, from which America's Negroes, so-called, descend.

ABOUT 6,000 YEARS AGO, when 70 per cent of the people were satisfied, and 30 per cent were dissatisfied, was born a "Mr. Yacub." He was born to create trouble, to break the peace, and to kill. His head was unusually large. When he was 4 years old, he began school, on the way to becoming highly educated.

At the age of 18, Yacub had finished all of his nation's colleges and universities. He was known as "the big-head scientist." Among many other things, he had learned how to scientifically breed races.

This big-head scientist Yacub, began preaching in the streets of Mecca, making such hosts of converts that the authorities, increasingly concerned, finally exiled him with his 39,999 followers to the island of Patmos—described as the island where John supposedly received the message contained in Revelations in the New Testament.

THO HE was a black man, Yacub, embittered toward Allah now, decided, as revenge, to create upon the earth a "devil" race—a bleached-out, white race of people!

He knew that it would take him several total color-change stages to get from black to white. Yacub began his work by setting up a birth control law there on the island of Patmos.

It was written that after Yacub's bleached-white race had ruled the world for 5,000 years—down to our time—then the black original race would give birth to one whose wisdom, knowledge, and power would be infinite. It was written that some of the original black people should be brought as slaves to North America—to learn to better understand, firsthand, the white devils' true nature, in modern times.

The greatest and mightiest god who appeared on the earth was Master W. D. Fard. He came from the East to the West, appearing in North America at a time when the history and the prophecy was coming to realization, as the nonwhite people all over the world began to rise.

Fard, in 1931, posing as a seller of silks, met, in Detroit, Elijah Muhammad. He gave Allah's message to Elijah and Allah's divine guidance, to save "the Lost Found Nation of Islam," the so-called Negroes, here in "this wilderness of America."

When my sister, Hilda, had finished telling me this "Yacub's History," she left. I don't know if I was able, even, to open my mouth and tell her "good-by."

I DID write to Elijah Muhammad. He sent me a typed reply. It had an all but electrical effect on me to actually see the signature of the Messenger of Allah. He told me to have courage. He even enclosed some money for me, a $5 bill. Muhammad to this day sends money all over the country to prison inmates who write to him.

I began pretty soon to write to people in the hustling world that I had known, such as my close friend Sammy, the pimp, or the different dope peddlers. I told them all about Allah and Islam and Elijah Muhammad.

What surely went on the Harlem and Roxbury wires was that "Detroit Red," in "stir," either was going crazy, or he was trying some "hype" to shake up the warden's office, thru writing what the prison censors obviously would report.

I got frustrated at how I couldn't express what I wanted to convey in letters. When I started trying to figure what to do about that, I saw the best thing I could get hold of was a dictionary to study, to learn some words. Probably I spent 2 days just uncertainly riffling thru the pages of that dictionary. I never had realized there were so many words. I didn't know which words for a better vocabulary!

Anyway, finally, the only way I saw to just start some kind of action, I began copying. In a couple of weeks, without having any original intention in the world of even thinking of doing such a thing, the A section of the dictionary had filled a whole tablet and I just naturally went on into the B's.

THAT WAS the way I started copying, eventually, the entire dictionary. It went a lot faster after, thru the practice, I had picked up handwriting speed.

It was inevitable, I suppose, that as my word base broadened, for the first time, I could pick up a book and actually understand what the book was saying.

I had meanwhile been transferred to Norfolk Prison colony, a rehabilitation center for model prisoners. This was because my disposition had improved and because my sister Ella was working for me with the authorities outside.

Let me tell you something! From then until I left that prison, within its routine, in all of the free time I had, I was in the library picking up some more books.

Malcolm X Tells How He Got Involved in Crime

• Two weeks ago today, Malcolm X, Black Nationalist leader who had been expelled from the Black Muslim movement, was killed by gunmen in New York. He had expected attempts on his life. Prior to that Sunday, he had written an account of his troubles with the Black Muslims, and about his earlier life in crime. Today's sixth installment tells of his days on cocaine and his troubles with the law.

BY MALCOLM X

I SOLD REEFERS like a wild man. Every day I cleared $30 or $40. I felt, for the first time in my life, that great feeling of free! Suddenly, now, I was the peer of other smooth young hustlers around.

The narcotics squad detectives didn't take long to pick up that I was selling, and different ones would tail me once in while. One morning, tho, I came in and found my room ransacked. It was then that I began carrying a little .38 automatic.

I carried it stuck right down the center of my back, pressed under my belt. Someone had told me that the cops never hit there when they gave you any routine patting-down. It was on the wire, finally, that the narcotics squad of Harlem had me on its "special list."

Now was when, every other day or so, and usually in some public place, some of them would come up, and flash the badge to search me. But I would tell them right off, loud enough for others to hear me, people standing about, that I didn't have anything on me, and I didn't want to get anything "planted" on me, and then they wouldn't, because Harlem already thought little enough of the law, and they did have to be careful that some crowd of Negroes, figuring they had witnessed a "frame," could set off even a race riot.

A BOSTON draft board, after I didn't respond at my sister Ella's, had contacted her, and then had contacted their New York counterpart, and, in care of my friend Sammy, I received Uncle Sam's "greetings." I had about 10 days to go before I was to show up at the induction center. And I went right to work. I knew I wasn't even about to get hooked into any army!

The army "intelligence" soldiers, those black spies in civilian clothes that hung around in different places with their ears open for the white man downtown. O, yes, I knew right where to start dropping the word! I started dropping it around that I was frantic to join—the Japanese army.

When I sensed, knew, that I had the direct ears of some of the "spies" I would talk, and act, high and crazy. I'd snatch out, and read loudly, my greetings—to make certain they got to know who I was, and when I'd report downtown.

I beat the army psychiatrists by putting on a show. After that, the army didn't want any part of me.

BECAUSE OF my reputation around, it was easy for me to get into the numbers racket—about the only hustle left in Harlem that hadn't fallen off in business. My job now was to ride a bus across the George Washington bridge, where a fellow would hand me a bag of numbers-betting slips.

It was on the wire, finally, that the narcotics squad of Harlem had me on the "special list."

I'd cross the street and catch the next bus back to Harlem. In the rackets, you don't ask questions. My boss, his wife, and their daughter would be waiting in a room when I would arrive, just shortly before the day's first number was announced from downtown.

Our numbers-world ethics code was that I should play with a runner of my own outfit. That was how I began placing bets with "West Indian Archie." This was one of Harlem's really bad Negroes, one of those former Dutch Schultz strongarm men who were around.

One afternoon West Indian Archie paid me $300 out of his pocket for a 50-cent-combination bet. I was planning to go out on a date. Later, when I got to the apartment of my friend Sammy, he told me that West Indian Archie had been there, looking for me. I couldn't figure out why.

Anyway, Sammy and I sniffed some cocaine to kill the time before I would go out and pick up my date. Then there was the knocking at the door. Sammy, lying on his bed in pajamas and a bathrobe, called "Who?"

When West Indian Archie answered, I opened the door.

"Red—I want my money!"

"Man—what's the beef?"

West Indian Archie said he'd thought I was trying something when I'd told him I'd hit a 50-cent-combination number. But he'd gone on and paid me the $300 until he could double-check his actual written betting slips; now he thought I hadn't combined the number I'd claimed, but another number.

"I'll give you until 11 o'clock tomorrow to get that money back." And that mad, mean West Indian put his hand behind him and pulled open the door. He backed out, and slammed it. I had maybe about $200. But once the wire had it, any retreat by either of us was unthinkable. I could see people who knew me finding business elsewhere.

I just stayed high for a few days, but I was scared.

THINGS WERE building up, closing in on me. I was trapped in cross turns. West Indian Archie gunning for me. The cops.

When I heard the car's horn, I was walking on St. Nicholas avenue. But my ears were hearing a gun. I didn't dream the horn could possibly be for me.

—I started dropping it around that I was frantic to join—the Japanese army.

"Homeboy!"

I jerked around. I came that close to shooting. . . . Shorty—from Boston! I couldn't have been happier if I'd seen my mother! I knew Shorty had hit his number and that he was playing dates around Boston with his own band.

Inside the car he told me Sammy had telephoned how I was jammed up tight and he'd better come and get me. I didn't put up any objections to leaving town. We hit the highway and drove back to Boston. He afterward told me that thru just about the whole ride back, I talked out of my head.

My sister Ella couldn't believe how atheist, how uncouth I had become. Even Shorty, whose Boston apartment I now again shared, wasn't prepared for how I lived and thought like a predatory animal.

Now I knew that I'd have to have a hustle. Just satisfying my cocaine habit alone cost me about $20 a day. I guess another $5 a day could have been added for reefers and just plain tobacco.

WHEN I OPENED the subject of house burglary with Shorty, he agreed. Shorty wanted to bring in with us this friend of his, whom I had met, and liked, called "Sonny." He worked regularly for an employment agency that sent him to wait on tables in exclusive people's homes.

I felt Shorty was absolutely right in wanting Sonny to join us in burglarizing homes. A good burglary team included a "finder"—one who locates lucrative places to rob. The other principal need is someone able to "case" these places' physical layouts—to determine means of entry, the best getaway routes, and so forth.

Sonny qualified as a two-in-one find. By being sent to work in the finest homes, he wouldn't be suspected when he sized up their loot and cased the joint, just running around looking busy with a white coat on.

Our "fence" didn't work with us directly. He had a representative, an ex-con, who dealt with me and me one else in my gang. You would be surprised how efficient we became. In no time we'd be running with the stolen loot to the parked car that took off for the "drop"

Two Malcolm Aides Seized With Shotgun

By HEYWOOD GOULD

Three men, two of them described as followers of the murdered Negro leader Malcolm X, were being held today on charges of violating the Sullivan Law.

Their arrest last night sparked short-lived rumors of a new break in the police investigation of the murder. But police said today the men were not suspects in the slaying.

Inspector Thomas Renaghan said the men had met at 557 E. 164th St., The Bronx, to "talk about what had happened since the shooting" and were found there by detectives with an unloaded sawed-off shotgun.

Arrested were John 57X Grey, 29, of 2300 5th Av., a mailman; Cyril 2X James, 18, of 14 E. 118th St., a clerk for Haryou-Act, the anti-poverty agency, and Willie Hilton, 28, of 65 W. 127th St., a department store kitchen helped. They were to be arraigned today in Criminal Court.

Police said Cyril 2X and John 57X had belonged to the Muslim Mosque in Harlem and had left the movement when Malcolm did. Grey had been a judo instructor for Malcolm's Muslim Mosque Inc.

Hilton was quoted by police as saying he had been an admirer of Malcolm X. "But after all that's happened, I think I don't want any part of it" he added.

Mrs. Betty Shabazz, Malcolm's widow, met with police yesterday at an unspecified place to give further information on her husband's activities.

Two men have been charged with Malcolm's slaying. One is Talmadge Hayer, 22, of Paterson, N. J., who was arrested on Feb. 21 outside the Audubon Ballroom in Washington Heights immediately after the murder. The second, Norman 3X Butler, 26, of 661 Rosedale Av., The Bronx, was arrested Thursday night. He was described as "an enforcer" for the Black Muslims.

Police still believe that five men were involved in the murder, two who took part in a diversionary incident, and three others who did the shooting. Deputy Chief Inspector Joseph Coyle said yesterday there were no new leads in the case.

Meanwhile, the Harlem apartment of Assemblyman Percy Sutton, who was Malcolm's attorney, was burglarized yesterday after he had left for the legislative session in Albany. The burglars removed the transistor to the apartment at 311 W. 118th St. and left the rooms and furniture in disarray.

Police said it would not be known what was taken, if anything, until Sutton returned from Albany.

2 Malcolm Aides Arrested On Weapons Law Charge

By PAUL MESKIL
Of the World-Telegram Staff

A judo expert described by police as a bodyguard of murdered Malcolm X was arrested today after detectives found him in a Bronx apartment with a sawed-off, double-barreled shotgun.

He was identified at John STX Gray, 29, of 2300 Fifth Ave. A substitute mail carrier for the United States Post Office Department, Gray was charged with violating the weapons law. Booked with him on similar charges were two 18-year-old youths, Cyril 2X James, 14 E. 118th St., and Willie Hilton, 63 W. 127th St.

According to police, Gray and James are former Black Muslims who defected from the sect soon after Malcolm did and joined his Black Nationalist organization.

Detectives said Gray and James had once belonged to the Muslims' Harlem mosque which was destroyed by a bomb blast and blaze last Tuesday, less than 36 hours after three gunmen executed Malcolm before 400 persons in the Audubon Ballroom.

For Questioning

Police gave this account of today's arrests:

Detectives John Kilroy and Raymond Rodriguez of the Bathgate Ave. station went to 597 164th St., Bx., last night to question the occupant of a basement apartment there. The man they wanted was not home, but Gray and the two youths were in the apartment. They were seated at a kitchen table. The unloaded shotgun was leaning against a wall. The detectives took the trio and the shotgun to the Bathgate station, where they were questioned for three hours.

Judo Lessons

Police later reported that Gray was one of Malcolm's top lieutenants. He had given Malcolm lessons in judo and karate. A detective said the three had gone to the Bronx apartment to meet the occupant and "discuss events since Malcolm's shooting." The officer declined to identify the occupant or disclose why police wanted to talk to him.

Both Gray and James reportedly left the Muslim mosque about a year ago, soon after Malcolm was replaced as the mosque leader, police said. James was identified as a stock clerk for HARYOU, a government-aided anti-poverty agency in Harlem.

The third suspect, Hilton, apparently had no connection with either the Black Muslims or Malcolm's group, police said.

Malcolm X

THE ASSASSINATION of Malcolm X is an act of violence against the Negro freedom struggle. Such deeds of violence and terror would preclude free discussion in the market place of ideas. Such discussion is essential to the Negro people's struggle for freedom. Our difference with Malcolm X on many points does not in any way qualify our condemnation of the brutal act of murder.

Ordinary Americans, both Negro and white, view such acts with shocked horror and as alien and harmful to the people's cause. In this connection, two facts must be kept in the forefront. First, violence is the stock-in-trade of reaction -- of the Dixiecrats -- by which the Negro people are being denied their most elementary rights as human beings and as American citizens. Secondly, the Negro people are victoriously advancing towards equality through ever greater unity and non-violent mass struggles and increasing Negro-white unity.

One thing above all must be guarded against now. That is the effort that will undoubtedly be made by racists and reactionaries to try to divert and divide the people's forces, both Negro and white. The nation is faced with the need of implementing the Civil Rights Act of 1964, and pressing the struggle for the right to vote which is reaching a climax in the black belt areas of Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana. Similarly the struggles for jobs, school integration, for decent housing in all areas, both North and South, must be advanced.

The Worker, fully and actively supports the mass struggles of the major civil rights organizations which unite the bulk of the Negro people and their white allies. This struggle must now be expanded and intensified. This is the only road to victory in the struggle for full equality.

Express Shock at Malcolm X Slaying

CIVIL RIGHTS leaders reacted to the brutal slaying of Malcolm X, leader of the newly formed Organization for Afro-American Unity last Sunday with shock and appeals for unity in the Freedom fight.

James Farmer, national director of CORE, called for a Federal investigation into the assassination and criticized the N. Y. Police Department for not protecting the late ex-Muslim leader.

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People stated that the "gunning down of Malcolm X

... is a shocking and ghastly demonstration of the futility of resorting to violence as a means of settling differences." In an obvious warning against incitements of bloody factional strife Wilkins emphasized that "violence is not the answer to disputes, either between warring factions within a group or between groups in the large society."

A similar note was struck by Rev. Martin Luther King as he led the struggle for voter registration in Selma, Alabama. The leader of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference stated that the murder of Malcolm X "revealed that our society is still sick enough to express dissent through murder."

That Rev. King himself is threatened with a similar fate was revealed when the civil rights leader disclosed that he had received a telephone call from a "high official in the Federal Government" who told him that there was "authoritative evidence of a plot taking place in Selma and Dallas County to take my life."

Acting Manhattan Borough President Earl Brown expressed himself as "horrified that anybody would take this shocking and brutal action, regardless of political or personal disagreement."

Farmer told a press conference Tuesday at CORE's office, 38 Park Row, that there seemed to be "international implications" to the assassination, citing the fact that Malcolm notified the State Department last week of the plot against his life.

"I am shocked at the lack of police protection after the threats against his life," Farmer said, alluding to the fire-bombing of Malcolm's home last week.

"How was it possible for someone to get a sawed-off shotgun into the hall?" Farmer asked.

Farmer said that he and Malcolm rarely agreed, but that the assassination was a tragic occurrence in the nation's life.

"He was growing away from black racism and coming closer to the civil rights mainstream," Farmer said, "and I don't think it was a coincidence that he was killed at this time."

Farmer said that before he went to Africa he was visited by Malcolm who "told me he was changing his views and now was willing to accept people as his brothers based on deeds, not genes."

Farmer said that Malcolm might have become a constructive force in the civil rights movement.

Farmer said he wanted to see this case handled through "the force of law, not vigilante action."

"And I hope," he continued, "that this murder won't aggravate feuds which have existed" in and around the civil rights movement.

Farmer revealed that he and his family have received many threats via phone and mail, "but not in the past month."

Probe Red Dope Tie To Malcolm Murder

By PAUL NIESKIL

(Of the World-Telegram Staff)

Investigators are checking reports that Malcolm X was murdered not by Black Muslims but by persons who thought he knew too much about a Harlem dope racket with supply lines stretching to Cuba and Red China.

Sources close to the murder inquiry disclosed Malcolm was "furious" when he learned his Black Nationalist group, also called the Organization of Afro-American Unity, had been infiltrated by pro-Peking fanatics who were peddling dope to Harlem addicts.

Himself a former narcotics peddler and addict, Malcolm kicked the habit while in prison. Later, as a Black Muslim leader, he waged war on the vicious racket. With the zeal of a reformed drunk, he exhorted his followers to stay away from narcotics.

James Farmer, executive director of the Congress of Racial Equality, has called for a federal probe of Malcolm's murder, which he called "a political killing with international implications."

Farmer is convinced the gunmen who executed Malcolm before 400 horrified spectators in the Audubon Ballroom last Sunday were not Black Muslims. Nor does he believe Malcolm's henchmen hurled the fire bombs that destroyed Black Muslim headquarters in Harlem early Tuesday.

Both these incidents, Farmer believes, were designed to cover up a much more sinister plot.

While declining to name those he believes were responsible for the murder, Farmer pointed out that Malcolm had been deeply involved in fighting the Harlem drug traffic.

Asked if he was aware that left-wing extremists have been peddling dope to finance their revolutionary activities, Farmer replied: "I've heard such reports. I think all angles should be looked into."

Dope Shipments

From other sources, the World-Telegram learned that Red China has been shipping heroin, cocaine and other narcotics to Cuba for transshipment to the United States and Latin America. Smuggled into this country via Canada and Mexico, the dope has become the major revenue source of at least one Harlem-based extremist group.

Leaders of this group and other far-left organizations supporting Cuba and China conferred with Malcolm X on several occasions after he bolted the Black Muslims a year ago to form his own Negro nationalist outfit.

According to a reliable report under investigation by both the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Central Intelligence Agency, the Reds paid at least part of the tab for Malcolm's tours of Africa, Europe and the Middle East.

Change of Attitude

The plan apparently was to use him as a tool to exploit race problems in the U.S. and as a propaganda weapon against America. But Malcolm's fanatic hatred of whites modified considerably in the last six months.

He spoke with affection of the white-skinned Moslems he met on a pilgrimage to Mecca. He gave friendly interviews to white newsmen and began devoting much of his time to public appearances and speeches before white groups.

Convinced that his usefulness was over, the Harlem anarchists—and their bosses in Havana and Peking—decided to take over his loosely knit organization.

Plans Exposure

Malcolm's top lieutenants had been aware of the Red infiltrators for some time. They tried to warn Malcolm but he was too busy fulfilling his new role as a globetrotter and public speaker. When he finally realized his leadership was being sabotaged by Reds who were also narcotics racketeers, he decided to expose them.

Investigators believe he might have planned to name the Red racketeers at the rally where he was shot down.

The Red-run narcotics trade in Harlem has become a serious threat to the underworld dope business run by Cosa Nostra gangsters. Recent raids by narcotics detectives and federal agents crippled the Cosa Nostra operation and forced many addicts to turn to Communists for their shots.

There are several pro-Cuba and pro-China groups in Harlem including the Progressive Labor Movement, the Harlem Defense Council and the Revolutionary Action Movement.

The RAM reportedly is masquerading as the Communist Party. It is masquerading from Cuba by turncoat American Negro Robert F. Williams.

These groups are already spreading the Cuban-Chinese propaganda line that Malcolm was a victim of "white reactionaries." The Reds are trying to make him look like a martyr, as they did when he was shot down in the Congo. Premier Patrice Lumumba was murdered.

Jesse Gray, head of the leftist Community Council on Housing, has called for a public outdoor memorial meeting for Malcolm X at 6 p.m. today at 125th St. and Seventh Ave., Harlem's busiest intersection.

"It will be peaceful just as long as the police conduct themselves properly," Gray told reporters.

Gray's activities in last summer's Harlem riots—when he called for "100 men ready to die for freedom" and mentioned "guerrilla warfare"—were the subject of several investigations.

Link to Viet Bombing
His Community Council and several other extreme left-wing groups belong to the Federation for Independent Political Action, which blames Malcolm's murder on "reactionary enemies of the Afro-American struggle for human rights."

The stage of the slaying, it said, was set by the U.S. government's "brazen bombing" of North Viet Nam, support of white mercenaries in the Congo and denial of "the right of the Cuban people to self-determination."

This anti-American blast, following the propaganda line set by Havana and Peking, was contained in circulars distributed near Harlem's Unity Funeral Home, where Malcolm's body is reposing. Some 5000 persons have filed through the undertaking parlor since the murder victim was placed on public view Tuesday night.

Farmer Shunted To Katzenbach

By WOODY KLEIN
Of the World-Telegram Staff

The White House has asked civil rights leader James Farmer to meet with Attorney General Nicholas deB. Katzenbach to discuss Farmer's call for a federal investigation of Malcolm X's murder, it was learned today.

Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, said Tuesday he believed the killing of the ex-Black Muslim leader was a "political act with international implications." He urged President Johnson to make a federal inquiry.

Following his announcement at a press conference, it was understood, Farmer telephoned the White House and was advised by a top Presidential aide that the President wanted the civil rights leader to sit down with Katzenbach.

Farmer has said he believed Malcolm's death "will go deeper" than mere rivalries between Negro groups. He said "it will have international implications" but he declined to elaborate. He said he based his information on a "reliable source."

No official finding, if any, has been disclosed by police yet in the murder.

There has been widespread speculation that it might have resulted from disputes between Malcolm and the Black Muslims, an organization of which he was once the No. 2 man, behind Elijah Muhammad. Muhammad has denied any connection with the murder.

Other sources have suggested that the murder plot might have been the work of a militant, pro-Chinese Communist group called the Revolutionary Action Movement, reportedly dedicated to violence in the United States.

In a statement to be published tomorrow in its weekly newspaper, Challenge, the Progressive Labor Movement, another pro-Chinese Red group, places the blame for Malcolm's death on "the white ruling class" in the United States.

[REDACTED] Copies are designated for Atlanta because of their interest in the KKK and for Dallas because of the references made in the LHM to [REDACTED] of Dallas, Texas.

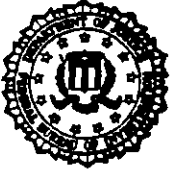

b7c

[REDACTED] was interviewed by SA [REDACTED]

b7D

[REDACTED] requested that information attributed to him in captioned matter be kept confidential; that is, that it be restricted to authorized Federal authorities. Accordingly, the attached LHM is being classified "Confidential". It is noted that certain information contained in the LHM relates to a foreign government, namely Communist China. However, the classification of the LHM is being determined by [REDACTED] wishes rather than its mentioned of a foreign government, since such does not appear necessary in this instance.
